

Important note:

1. BEA Union Investment Asia Pacific Multi Income Fund (the "Fund") seeks to achieve income and long-term capital growth by investing in an actively managed portfolio of debt securities, listed REITs, and other listed securities in the Asia Pacific region.
2. The Fund invests in emerging markets and may be subject to higher liquidity and volatility risks.
3. The Fund invests directly in listed REITs, equities and managed funds, and is thus subject to the risks generally associated with such asset classes, including but not limited to liquidity of the asset class, changes in investment sentiment, political environment, economic, business and social conditions in local and global marketplace.
4. The Fund may invest in lower-rated fixed income instruments, including below investment grade and non-rated debt securities, which are subject to greater credit and liquidity risks than higher-rated securities.
5. The manager may at its discretion make distributions from income and/or capital in respect of the distributing classes of the Fund. Investors should note that the distributions paid out of capital amount to a return or withdrawal of part of the unitholder's original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Such distribution may result in an immediate reduction of the net asset value per unit.
6. In terms of currency hedged class units, adverse exchange rate fluctuations between the base currency of the Fund and the class currency of the currency hedged class units may result in a decrease in return and/or loss of capital for unitholders. Over-hedged or under-hedged positions may arise and there can be no assurance that these currency hedged class units will be hedged at all times or that the manager will be successful in employing the hedge.
7. Investors may invest in RMB (Hedged) units. It should be noted that the RMB is currently not a freely convertible currency as it is subject to foreign exchange control policies of the Chinese government. There is also no assurance that the RMB will not be subject to devaluation. Any devaluation of the RMB could adversely affect the value of investors' investments. There is no guarantee that the hedging strategy will be effective and investors may still be subject to the RMB currency exchange risk.
8. The Fund may enter into futures contracts for hedging and investment purposes. Given the leverage effect embedded in futures contracts, the Fund may be exposed to significant losses.
9. Investors should not make an investment decision based solely on this material.

- 2. Newly issued Asian investment grade and Asian high yield bonds offer attractive premiums
- 3. The Fund remains very selective in Australian equities

Fund Features

- The Fund focuses on high yielding Asia Pacific bonds and equities, distributions from both bonds and equities are the main source of income.

Market Review and Outlook
Bonds

- U.S. Treasury bonds rallied as various Federal Reserve members including the chairman, Jerome Powell, issued dovish comments on the path of interest rate hikes.
- Chinese high yield property bonds outperformed as yields for B-rated names dipped slightly. Chinese high yield industrial bond yields further increased due to headline news and concerns about refinancing.
- Indonesian high yield industrial and property bonds yields continue their gradual rise since October, mainly as a result of weaker third-quarter results.

Equities

- Equity markets generally improved in November following a sell-off in October. Asian and Hong Kong equities outperformed, as emerging market currencies strengthened.
- China's onshore and offshore equity markets experienced a strong rally in November, with trade war concerns receding after a meeting between presidents Trump and Xi at the G20 summit was confirmed.
- Australian equities also recovered in November but underperformed the region as a whole. The recovery was led by the financial and industrial sectors as investors rotated into defensive stocks.

Investment Strategy

Bonds

- The Fund added exposure in Indonesian quasi-sovereign bonds in response to attractive valuations and the country's improved macro condition.
- The Fund has been picking up bonds in the primary market, as we are seeing attractive new issue premiums in both the Asian investment grade and Asian high yield segments.

Equities

- The Fund remains very selective in Australian equities due to developments in the Royal Commission, property market softness, labour market conditions, currency risk, and uncertainties following the change of prime minister.
- We remain positive on companies with a commitment to dividends backed by strong cash flows and balance sheets.
