

Important note:

1. BEA Union Investment China Gateway Fund (the "Fund") seeks medium to long term capital growth and income through investing primarily in equity securities and/or debt securities, that are either (a) traded in China or (b) issued by entities incorporated in China or entities which have significant operations in or assets in, or derive significant portion of revenue or profits from China.
2. The Fund's investments are concentrated in China's equity securities and debt securities. This may result in greater volatility than a fund having a more diverse portfolio of investments. The Fund may also be subject to withholding and other taxes imposed in China.
3. The Fund may invest in below investment grade, or rated BB+ or below by a China credit rating agency, or non-rated debt securities, which are subject to greater interest rate, credit and liquidity risks, higher volatility and greater risk of loss of principal and interest than higher-rated debt securities.
4. The Fund may invest in China A-Shares via Stock Connects, China interbank bond market via Foreign Direct Access Regime and/or Bond Connect. Such programmes are subject to regulatory risks and various risks such as quota limitation, volatility risk, liquidity risk, settlement and counterparty risk etc.
5. The manager may at its discretion make distributions from income and/or capital in respect of the distributing classes of the Fund. Distributions paid out of capital amount to a return or withdrawal of part of the unitholder's original investment or from any capital gains attributable to that original investment. Any such distributions may result in an immediate reduction of the net asset value per unit.
6. In terms of currency hedged class units, adverse exchange rate fluctuations between the base currency of the Fund and the class currency of the currency hedged class units may result in a decrease in return and/or loss of capital for unitholders. Over-hedged or under-hedged positions may arise and there can be no assurance that these currency hedged class units will be hedged at all times or that the manager will be successful in employing the hedge.
7. RMB is currently not freely convertible and is subject to exchange controls and restrictions. Any depreciation of RMB could adversely affect the value of investor's investment in the Fund.
8. The Fund may use derivative instruments for hedging purposes which may not achieve the intended purpose, and may result in significant losses.
9. Investors should not make an investment decision based solely on this material.

Market Review and Outlook

Equities

- Both Chinese onshore and offshore equities fell in April amid continuing market volatility due to concerns over U.S.-China trade tensions and rising U.S. Treasury yields.
- Mutual market access southbound flows recorded a net outflow of 8.1 billion Hong Kong dollars in April, marking the first monthly net outflow of 2018.
- Defensive sectors outperformed due to upbeat results and risk-averse sentiment. The technology sector underperformed due to market uncertainty over a potential trade war between the U.S. and China.

Bonds

- Chinese investment grade bonds performed relatively resiliently in April compared with Chinese high yield bonds, given their better credit fundamentals and reduced new supply in the market.
- China's technology sector experienced some correction in the last month amid uncertainty over trade tensions between China and the U.S.

Investment StrategyEquities

- The Fund has maintained its overweight position in the financial sector due to the improvement in asset quality and the rising yield environment.
- The Fund also increased its exposure in several defensive sectors, for example health care, telecommunications, and utilities, amid market volatility and increased uncertainty.

Bonds

- The Fund remained strategically defensive in April. It continued to reduce its exposure in long-dated bonds and higher beta names, switching into short-dated bonds and floating rate notes.
